

"Calling for a Cure"

One day, one night, one community. This year, Ballard Telephone was once again honored to be a sponsor and participate in Relay for Life on Friday night, June 11, 2010. Our theme every year is "Calling for a Cure".

We spend this night honoring cancer survivors and paying tribute to the lives we have lost to this disease. This is our night to raise money to help fight cancer here at home and in our community.

This is a night dedicated to celebrate those who have battled cancer, remember those that lost the battle, and get inspired to fight back.

We were blessed to have one of our members, John Earl Evans, pay tribute to his wife, Becky. She lost her 23-year battle with cancer on Christmas Eve, 2009.

Another member, Tim Taylor, brother of BTC employee Cheryl Logsdon won the "Dude Looks Like A Lady", contest by raising the most money of all the "beautiful ladies" that were in the contest.

A good time was had by everyone that attended!! Approximately $84,600 was raised this year. Good job Ballard County!
